Start date: Easter 2019

Are you an aspiring leader and feel that you have what is required for an exciting position as head of humanities to further your career?

Staffordshire University Academy are seeking to appoint an innovative, ambitious, enthusiastic and proactive head of humanities to lead the development of teaching, learning, achievement and aspiration within humanities up to KS5. The successful candidate will be responsible for the line management of the history, geography, RE, MFL and PHSE (CHARACTER education).

Staff benefit from a positive working environment with strong support for professional development. The successful candidate will be able to lead and build on the strengths within the department whilst continuing to drive the progress being made in these vital curriculum areas.

Applicants must have a degree or equivalent in a humanities subject and have at least 3 years of experience teaching humanities in a mainstream school.

Do you have?

- High aspirations to deliver at a consistently effective level
- A desire to ensure all groups of students are suitably motivated and challenged
- The desire to share and learn from best practice to ensure continual self-improvement
- The ability to use and apply technology in lessons to support teaching and learning
- A passion and a desire to make a difference to the lives of young people

In return we can offer:

- Genuinely exciting career development opportunities in a growing academy
- Supportive, experienced and enthusiastic colleagues
- Excellent facilities including classrooms equipped with the latest audio visual technology
